

Leonardo Da Vinci

Leonardo da Vinci was a brilliant artist, scientist, and thinker who showed the world the power of curiosity and creativity. His work reminds us to explore and learn about the world in many different ways.

Timelines:

1452: Leonardo is born in Italy during a time called the Renaissance, when people were interested in learning and creativity.

1470s: He starts working with famous artists and becomes skilled in painting, drawing, and sculpting.

1500s: Leonardo studies lots of things, like how the body works, flying machines, and even the stars in the sky.

1519: He passes away, leaving behind a legacy of amazing art and ideas.

Fun Facts:

Leonardo da Vinci was born on April 15, 1452, in Italy.

He loved to explore and learn about all sorts of things, like art, science, and inventions.

Leonardo was a lefty, which means he wrote and drew with his left hand!

Impact on the World:

Leonardo da Vinci was a true Renaissance man with a big impact:

Art Masterpieces:He painted famous works like the Mona Lisa and The Last Supper, showing his amazing talent.

Scientific Discoveries:Leonardo's curious mind led him to study anatomy, nature, and many other subjects.

Inventions:He drew plans for machines like flying devices and bridges, even though they weren't built during his time.

Inspiration:Leonardo's art and ideas have inspired people for centuries and continue to amaze us today.